Issue No. 115 – October 2006

Hello and welcome to Skywaves 115.

Online Resources

One great feature of having the Yahoo Groups email list, is that we also get a common area for sharing files.
<http://uk.groups.yahoo.com/group/skywaves/files/>

In there you'll find all sorts of information about receivers, PI codes, RSLs, tv carrier offset measurements, propagation, aerials, FM tuners, audio recordings of stations received ... and so on. You'll need to sign in using your Yahoo Groups username & password. And of course, if you feel the urge to contribute, then you can upload your own articles to add to the knowledge base. Perhaps a station logo/sticker section could be created, or a who's where now of ex-ILR DJ's. (Remember when local stations were local?)

FM Commercial Radio Licence advertisement in Wales

Ofcom today (12 Sept) advertises a new FM local commercial radio licence to cover South Wales.

Ofcom is also considering advertising up to two new FM commercial radio licences for coverage of most of North and Mid Wales next year, subject to gaining international agreement for the use of the required frequencies.

Ofcom is therefore seeking views as to whether there should be one or two new licences for most of North and Mid Wales. Ofcom is also seeking initial (non-binding) expressions of interest in such licences from potential applicants.

Beyond this, Ofcom has no plans to advertise any further FM local commercial radio licences for the time being in the UK.

South Wales Licence Advertisement

Ofcom estimates that the South Wales licence could achieve coverage of an area with an adult (aged 15+) population of around 950,000. The exact coverage will be determined by the location of the transmission sites and other technical characteristics. The proposed frequencies for this licence are subject to international agreement on radio spectrum usage.

The closing date for the receipt of applications is 3.00 p.m. on 12 December 2006. A non-refundable fee of £10,000 will be payable for each application submitted.

The licence will be issued for a twelve year period. All applications for this licence will be published on the Ofcom website as soon as is practicable after the closing date. (Ofcom website)

Ofcom awards new FM commercial radio licence for Bristol

Ofcom today (14 Sept) announces the award of the new FM local commercial radio licence for Bristol.

By the closing date of 9 June 2006, Ofcom received six applications for the Bristol licence. After giving careful consideration to each of the applications submitted, the Ofcom Radio Licensing Committee has decided to award the licence to:

- Original Bristol FM Ltd ('Original 106fm'), The New Boathouse, 136-142 Bramley Road, London W10 6SR.
- Contact: Peter Viner Tel: 0207 565 6600 Email: peter.viner@canwest.co.uk

Original 106fm is owned by CanWest MediaWorks UK Ltd (95%) and Seven Broadcast Ltd (5%). It will provide "Adult Alternative Radio – an eclectic mix of adult-oriented music with particular appeal to 40-59 year-olds, with 24 hour local news".

The licence is for a service to cover the city of Bristol and the surrounding area, which has an adult population (aged 15+) of around 500,000. However, the exact coverage will be determined by the location of the transmission site and other technical characteristics.

Ofcom expects Original 106fm to begin broadcasting at the earliest opportunity and no later than two years from this award date.

Ofcom will publish a statement setting out the key determining factors for the award of this licence shortly.

The licence will be issued for a twelve year period. (Ofcom website)

BBC World Service in English on FM in Kuwait

For the first time, listeners in Kuwait can now hear BBC World Service programmes in English 24 hours a day, seven days a week since the launch of the new FM station, BBC 100.1 FM.

Jerry Timmins, Head of Africa and Middle East Region, BBC World Service, said: "This is the first fully dedicated BBC English relay on air in the Gulf. Listeners in Kuwait can now hear, for the first time, the full range of BBC programmes in English in crystal clear quality via the new BBC 100.1 FM station. "This complements our existing 24/7 BBC Arabic relay on 90.1 FM and is a further example of the long-standing and positive co-operation the BBC enjoys with Kuwait."

Khalid Al-Tarrah, Director of the Kuwait Information Centre in London, said: "We are delighted to have World Service broadcasting in Arabic and now also in English from Kuwait.

"This represents a significant milestone in the wider dissemination of news and current affairs programming in the region. "This new agreement is a crowning moment in the well-established co-operation between Kuwait's Ministry of Information and the BBC."

The programmes broadcast on BBC 100.1 FM range from health and sport to business and music. They include the BBC's flagship programme Newshour, which is 60 minutes of news and analysis of the day's top stories from the BBC's most experienced correspondents; Outlook, which brings human interest stories from across the globe; and World, Have Your Say - the daily multimedia interactive phone-in programme encouraging people across the world to question experts and leading international figures in the news. BBC Arabic News on FM in Khartoum, Sudan

The BBC continues to expand its presence in Sudan with the launch of BBC Arabic news bulletins on partner station, Mango 96 FM in Khartoum. As a result of the new partnership, news bulletins in Arabic can be heard at the top of each hour from 6.00am until midnight, local time.

Fouad Razek, Business Development Manager for Africa and Middle East, BBC World Service, said: "We are delighted to be providing BBC Arabic news bulletins seven days a week to Mango 96 FM. "This new arrangement complements the BBC relay already available in Khartoum on 91.0 FM and ensures that our news bulletins are available to a wider audience."

Mekki Mahmoud Abdulla, Chairman of Mango Holding, added: "We are very pleased to be co-operating with the BBC in this way.

"The new agreement means that whilst the majority of our output continues to have a lighter and more locally focussed appeal, the BBC bulletins ensure that our audience are kept up to date with international events in a regular, concise and authoritative way.

"This tie-up with the BBC is in line with Mango Media's rapid development plans to be a complete information provider to its customers in the Sudan."

BBC World service programmes can also be heard in Sudan on 91.0 FM in Al Ubayyid, 90.0 FM and 88.2 FM in Juba, 91.0 FM in Port Sudan and 91.5 FM in Wad Madani.

Mango 96 FM is part of Mango Holding, a private group with media and technology businesses and interests in Dubai, North Africa, Levant and Sudan. Mango 96 FM was the first private commercial FM service in Sudan. In 2007 Mango Holding will launch services in three new regions in Sudan and two other African countries. BBC & Arqiva Press Release for Digital Switch Over

The BBC and Arqiva have issued the following joint press release:

- £1.8 billion contract signed for digital terrestrial TV and DAB digital radio
- Two public-service TV multiplex networks from 1154 transmitters
- DAB digital radio extension of up to 160 transmitters

The BBC and Arqiva have concluded contract negotiations for the design, deployment, and operation of its new high-power digital terrestrial television (DTT) network which will replace both the BBC's analogue television networks and the current low-power DTT network.

Arqiva will also build and operate additional transmitters to expand the coverage of the BBC's DAB digital radio network, with the possibility of up to a further 160 new DAB transmitters being ordered in the coming years.

The deal is expected to be worth, taking into account inflation, in excess of £1.8bn over the contract period.

Under the terms of the contract, the new DTT services will be introduced on a region-by-region basis between 2008 and 2012 and the service will continue to be delivered by Arqiva until 2031 (2023 for DAB).

The BBC's two public-service multiplexes will be broadcast from all 1154 existing transmitter sites, delivering digital TV to 98.5 per cent of the population via rooftop aerials.

Richard Waghorn, Controller of Distribution at the BBC, said: "We are delighted to take this next step in the process of Digital Switch Over. The delivery of high-power digital signals to the whole country is crucial if the BBC is to help deliver a fully digital UK."

Steve Holebrook, Arqiva's Managing Director, Terrestrial Media Solutions, added: "Digital Switch Over is a complex and challenging task and we are absolutely delighted to have been chosen by the BBC to deliver their future television broadcast network.

"We have a long history in broadcast transmission and we're proud that we'll be playing such a major role supporting the BBC in the future."

Line up changes at BBC London

BBC London 94.9FM has added two new additions to its late night schedule.

Sony Award-winner Big George joins BBC London 94.9 through the night, Monday to Friday from 2.00am to 6.00am with a great blend of topical conversation, calls, music and humour.

Big George says: "Be warned, once you've had a taste, your duvet won't get a look-in!"

Big George's career has seen him as a session musician, record producer, songwriter, broadcaster and freelance journalist.

He even wrote the theme tune to Have I Got News for You and arranged, produced and recorded the Handbags and Gladraggs theme to The Office!

David Robey, BBC London 94.9 Editor, said: "Big George is a larger-than-life, award-winning radio presenter who is London through and through, so he will fit into our line-up of great London personalities such as Vanessa Feltz, Danny Baker, Jono Coleman, Robert Elms and Eddie Nestor."

1Xtra's Charlene White takes the hot seat, setting London's late night agenda through the early hours of Sunday morning from 2.00am to 6.00am.

Being born and mainly bred in London, Charlene's excited about the new show and said: "I've spent many a night out in the capital - it's a vibrant place to be once the sun has gone down.

"There's nothing like sitting in a late night café talking to Londoners, who by the end of the night become your friends. So for me, doing the show is a continuation of that - I can't wait!"

"Charlene is a new talent, with a very mature head on her young shoulders. She's passionate, knowledgeable and loves talking to people, the ideal combination for BBC London 94.9FM," said Robey. (BBC Press Release)

Line up changes at BBC Bristol

It's all change at BBC Radio Bristol as living legend John Turner takes over the station's Breakfast Show in a new schedule due to start on 23 October 2006.

JT says of his move,; "I'm really excited to be taking on the challenge of presenting the Breakfast Show and helping wake up the greatest city in the world!

"I'll really miss the cut and thrust of Talking Back and the consumer programme Sounding Off but after so many years presenting them it feels right to go for a change, for both me and the station. Whatever we do, we don't want to become predictable!"

Managing Editor, Tim Pemberton, who took over the station in May, says: "JT is without doubt the most recognised and trusted voice on Radio Bristol and it seems only sensible to kick-start the day with his dulcet tones.

"He really knows what makes Bristolians tick. He's a natural communicator who moves seamlessly between light-hearted banter and serious discussion with consummate ease."

And it doesn't stop there. The new line-up will also include the one and only Mr Dave Barrett, who is returning to his spiritual home on Radio Bristol.

Dave, who will present the Mid-Morning Show - from 9.00am to noon - is a little bit chuffed, saying: "I am delighted to be back at Radio Bristol. It was my happiest time ever and my return coincides with the 25th year of my radio career.

"I am looking forward with enormous enthusiasm to presenting my new morning radio show to all the lovely listeners in the Radio Bristol region."

Another new venture on the horizon for Radio Bristol is The Zone, to be broadcast from 1.00 to 6.00am, initially at weekends.

Tim Pemberton, who has created the idea of The Zone, and is organising the first BBC pilot on Radio Bristol, says: "The Zone is an opportunity for us to make more use of our airtime by developing programmes with community broadcasters.

"I'm looking to find untapped local talent and make contact with more diverse communities who, I hope, will find it an exciting opportunity to tell us what they think should be on their local BBC radio station, instead of us telling them!"

In brief, the main changes to the Monday to Friday schedule are:

John Turner takes over the Breakfast programme.

Dave Barrett returns to Radio Bristol and fills the 9.00am to noon slot, taking on the mantle of the listeners' consumer champion with phone-ins, conversation and maybe the odd (intelligent!) argument.

Steve Yabsley is let loose from noon until 2.00pm making sure that, for two hours at least, nothing on-air is predictable.

Richard Lewis slides effortlessly into the 2.00 to 5.00pm slot with celebrity interviews, belly laughs and great competitions for a fun packed show.

Ben Prater will move to Drivetime, 5.00 to 7.00pm, bringing listeners an hour of the day's news and views followed by a second hour of Ben and Friends with the latest leisure guide, going out, staying in and what's on the telly.

Nigel Dando will become a senior correspondent for the station, drawing on his unrivalled contacts list around Bristol, feeding into programmes throughout the day. (BBC Press Release)

Crescent Radio on-air in Rochdale

The Rochdale community radio station "Crescent Radio", went on air full-time on the 22nd of September on 97.0 MHz.

There was an announcement about the station being on air in the local rag, this was very low key. More information can be found on their website at: <http://www.crescentradio.net/>

Rochdale's first ever full time radio station is soon to hit the airwaves with live broadcasting starting on Fri 22nd September 2006. Crescent Community Radio has been serving the local community with occasional broadcasts since 1999 and was awarded a full time 5-year Community Licence by Ofcom in September of last year. Run by volunteers, the team at Crescent Community Radio worked hard to win a competitive Community Radio Licence. (Only 107 successful out of 194 applicants).

Large parts of their website are well out of date, and still show details and frequencies from their previous RSL broadcasts, they are streaming live audio via their website though.

Quite a good signal here, but then I am only about 3 miles away.
